JUNE 2019

Reaching and Risking to Welcome the World in the Word that has come among us in Jesus Christ.

Dear All,

Rachel Held Evans died at the beginning of May. As did Jean Vanier. I know, for many of you, these names are not particularly familiar, and given the deaths of many in our own community at the beginning of May, it might seem odd to you that I would mention them. But I believe that both of these are saints and prophets of our age, calling the Christian Church into the future, and I'd hate to have their deaths pass us without mention.

I strongly doubt they thought of themselves that way. In fact, Jean Vanier was only interested in creating community that intentionally included people with developmental disabilities. He founded L'Arche, an international network of communities for adults with learning disabilities living alongside those without them. It also has become a community of pilgrimage for many. This, he did not start with any intention of it becoming more than a community for a few men from an asylum when, in 1964, he welcomed two mentally disabled men into his home and stepped off a prestigious career path.

People whose lives have been transformed by L'Arche are many. The most significant thing in my mind about L'Arche and Jean Vanier, though, was what it and he has taught the community of faith about weakness, the need for community, and the nature of welcome. I found one of Vanier's comments on people's discomfort around people with disabilities in an interview with Krista Tippet on On Being to be particularly telling. He said, "We don't know what to do with our own weakness except hide it and pretend it doesn't exist. So, how can we welcome fully the weakness of another if we haven't welcomed our own weakness?" Vanier's call to our lives is to embrace fully whom God made us to be, to live grace and to find God's strength in our weakness. And in so doing, our community and welcome become so much more expansive and free of fear. I hope his witness lives on and the community of L'Arche continues to transform the Church and the world.

Rachel Held Evans may seem to be totally different than Jean Vanier. She was an author and blogger. She was only 37 when she died, leaving behind a very young family. But, I think her struggles with faith and so much of what she wrote was attempting something similar to Jean Vanier. Or at least the spirit of community is similar. In her own growth in faith and work, she made room for people who also struggled with faith and welcome. She exposed her own weaknesses and in so doing came to love others' weaknesses as well. And as she did that, it seems she wanted the Church to become the kind of community where all are genuinely welcome and all find a place at the table. I love this quote of hers from a book called Searching for Sunday: Loving, Leaving, and Finding the Church. She writes: "Imagine if every church became a place where everyone is safe, but no one is comfortable. Imagine if every church became a place where we told one another the truth. We might just create sanctuary."

It's interesting to consider that true welcome and community isn't really about feeling comfortable, but about growing in truth-telling and weakness together. True sanctuary is a safe place to approach the holy with our whole selves, not just our prettied up, hidden-behind-the-mask-of-societal-and-self-expectation selves. I think this is a true challenge for the Church. We have so often been worried about societal impressions and expectations. We also have often been a space where people can come on Sundays to feel comfortable, to experience things the way they've always been and we have a way of getting upset with people who disrupt our comfortableness. And though, I think that we certainly strive to be the communities that Evans and Vanier envision (and there are even glimmers and glimpses of it in our midst), I think we always have a way to go. But, I think this is an important challenge left to us by Evans and Vanier; that we become a true community. A community where we aren't necessarily always comfortable, but we are truly known; and being known, truly loved, welcomed, and safe.

UPDATE ON SALE OF VOIGT HOUSE

As you all know, we received a wonderful bequest of a house from Fred Voigt.

After a long wait, the spirit moved us into contact with the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC). They will be converting the house into a group home for about 6 handicapped adults.

They have signed a contract with us for the asking price of $315,000. Much remains to be done in Surrogate's Court on the ARC side but the process is moving along nicely. We expect the sale to be complete in the fall. More later.

GOOD SHEPHERD....the church of friendly, warm and welcoming people!

Good Shepherd's Evangelism Committee would like to start a GREETER PROGRAM. Greeters would stand at the main entrance door before regular worship services, connecting with people and welcoming members, guests and friends.

If you would be interested in being a greeter, contact the church office or a member of the Evangelism Committee.

SO, GET OUT OF YOUR COMFORT ZONE—GET INVOLVED IN YOUR CHURCH AND FEEL THE CONNECTION—THE PURPOSE AND THE JOY THAT BEING A GREETER CAN GIVE YOU!!

ROCKLAND CHILDREN'S PSYCHIATRIC CENTER LOOKING FOR ART SUPPLIES...

Rockland Psych was so pleased and happy with the response from Good Shepherd at Christmas and they wanted us to know how thankful they were to receive the many gifts for the children and teens.

They are now looking for art supplies (pads of art paper, coloring books, both for young teens and adult type for older teens, crayons, puzzles, etc.). One restriction is no pads of paper with metal spiral binding with which people could get hurt. A box will be available for donations in the coatroom at the back of the sanctuary.

Consider scheduling a recurring contribution today. It's very convenient. You will no longer need to write out checks and prepare envelopes every week. Even when travel, illness or other circumstances prevent you from attending services, your electronic contributions will continue to be received on an uninterrupted basis.

Rescheduled Spirituals Concert

Please join us on Saturday, June 8, at 2pm for an Afternoon of Spirituals, featuring countertenor Augustine Mercante, with Elaina Burns, piano.

We rejoice with the following young people and their families who received their First Holy Communion on May 19th.

WELCA meetings are over for the season. We had a good season and look forward to next September.

We had some interesting programs, some of which were presented by members of our congregation. We would like to mention them and thank them very much for sharing some of their time with us:

- ♦ Sue Baumeister spoke on their trip to Africa, with slides and a talk. We took a trip to the Serengeti.
- ♦ Charles Bonheur worked for many years for the Metropolitan Opera and shared many very interesting "behind the scenes" adventures. He made the Met come alive for all of us.
- ♦ Frank Getchell shared time he donated going to Haiti, helping and teaching them how to provide clean water. He spoke of their devastation and their desire to rebuild.
- ♦ Irene Ryan talked about "Keeping Rockland Clean." Irene shared how we can all help with this very important endeavor.
- ♦ Ione Mensing demonstrated how to work with stained glass. She showed many items she has made. Her work sparkled in her demonstration.

We have some very talented members of Good Shepherd and will continue searching you out to entertain and educate us next season.

Our next meeting will be on Tuesday, September 3rd, at 1:30 PM. We will meet in Fellowship Hall. Our meeting in Sept will be our auction fund raiser. Bring a wrapped gift/item that we auction off. Can be new or used.

Ladies, if you are a member of Good Shepherd, you are a WELCA member. So please join us. We are all needed to continue our outreach programs.

Have a wonderful summer.
 God's peace to all.

CREATIVE PLAY CELEBRATES ANOTHER GREAT YEAR!

What a wonderful school year we have had. It has been our pleasure watching your children learn and grow into confident and enthusiastic preschoolers.

There are so many people who have helped make our school the successful program that it is, and I would like to recognize all:

We thank all our parents who have helped out during the school year. Thank you for working on your committees, being a teacher helper, and volunteering for our special events. We can't do this without your help and we love that you are involved in our school.

A big thank you to our entire staff for their dedication in making Creative Play a fun school in which to learn and play. We appreciate all the love and patience they show to the children.

Thank you to Pastor Lena and the Church staff for their support of our school and always promoting our mission.

This year, we send a big hug and thank you to Camille Hockett, our office administrator, who will be retiring this June. Camille has worked with Creative Play for 21 years, and has given many hugs and smiles to the children and families of Creative Play. We wish her much happiness in all that she does. Our friend has finally "graduated!"

Our 4-year-old Creative Play graduation will be on Monday, June 17th and our UPK 4-year-old graduation will be on Monday, June 24th. There will be over 90 children graduating!

Our Summer Camp will begin on July 8 – August 2, we are excited for some summer fun. There are still some limited 4-year-old openings.

We wish everyone a happy and safe summer!

Reminder: Rescheduled Spirituals Concert

Please join us on Saturday, June 8th at 2pm, for an Afternoon of Spirituals, featuring countertenor Augustine Mercante, with Elaina Burns, piano.

Interested in learning more about Gus Mercante? Please read his bio below!

"Described by The New York Times as a "glowing countertenor", Augustine Mercante enjoys an active career performing repertoire from the Baroque to the newly-created. This season he has enjoyed performances with the Serafin String Quartet, Kent Chamber Choir, The Arts at Trinity, Delaware Choral Arts, and Brandywine Baroque, as well as recitals in Washington, DC, New York, and throughout Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Gus is a frequent soloist with the American Spiritual Ensemble, with which he has toured Ireland, Spain, France and the United States, including his debut in New York's Lincoln Center. He works regularly with instrument maker and composer Aaron Grad and premiered Grad's Old-Fashioned Love Songs for countertenor and electric theorbo, a performance praised by the Washington Post for "full-bodied sweetness, exemplary pitch, and a reliably musical imagination." As a 2013 Vocal Fellow of the Tanglewood Music Center, his performance in the American premiere of George Benjamin's Written on Skin was described by the Wall Street Journal as "riveting" with a voice that "soared above the texture, lining the text with the haloed elegance of gold-leaf inscription". He is also a fellow of the Delaware Division of the Arts, most recently being awarded an Individual Artist Fellowship in 2013.

Augustine Mercante completed his Artist Diploma in Germany as a Fulbright Scholar studying with soprano Edith Wiens and performing at the Prinzregententheater in Munich and for the International Gluck Festival for the Nurnberg Opera. He holds degrees from the University of North Texas and the University of Delaware, where he was honored to be the inaugural recipient of the Robert King Memorial Scholarship.

Gus and his husband, Justin, live in Wilmington, Delaware where Gus maintains a private teaching studio and is on the voice faculty at both The Music School of Delaware and Wesley College."
